

Families with Special Needs

Join Defence Community Organisation and Speech Pathologist, Natasha Munns for an information session on practical strategies and information about how speech therapy can assist your child with reading, writing, phonetics and language skills.

Speech delays and difficulties can affect both children and adults and can be appropriately managed by learning about early developmental signs, how and when to engage a professional speech pathologist, and gain important tools and strategies to implement and maintain therapy techniques to assist your child at home and at school. This workshop is open to All ADF members and their families even if you child is not recognised with special needs.
