Foreword

Welcome to your new posting location

Many of you have travelled long distances to your new posting location and are now faced with the many challenges of a mobile lifestyle—adjusting to new routines, navigating new environments, finding a house, and finding a school for your children.

Defence is committed to providing Defence families with an educational advisory service and a range of support measures to help minimise the negative impacts on family functioning as a result of their mobile lifestyle.

Defence families have unique educational needs due to their mobile lifestyle. The Defence Community Organisation (DCO) is well placed to provide a targeted and tailored service that assists whenever a need arises.

As part of DCO, Regional Education Liaison Officers (REDLO) are highly trained professional officers whose educational background equips them to provide relevant and quality educational advice and guidance to all ADF families.

The REDLO is the key pivotal point in this education package as they provide the link for you and your family and can assist you in accessing the type of support that meets the needs of your children.

I hope the information contained in this booklet assists with making your relocation experience a positive one for you and your family. Children are our most valuable resource and their education is of paramount importance, therefore identifying an appropriate school is a key factor to a smooth transition in your new locality.

Good luck and remember, the Defence Community Organisation, the REDLO and other staff in our area offices are available to assist you and your families.

Michael Callan

Director General
Defence Community
Organisation

The Defence Community Organisation (DCO) welcomes you and your family to the state of Victoria and trusts that you will find your stay both beneficial and enjoyable.

If you are studying, or if you have children attending school, TAFE or university, you will need information about education in Victoria in order to make informed decisions.

This booklet aims to assist you with making education choices as you move between states and territories. It is designed to provide a brief overview of education in your posting locality, and further contact details. It does not provide you with an exhaustive list of all education providers in the state, but rather focuses on areas close to Defence establishments or housing. Additional education information can be obtained from the Regional Education Liaison Officer (REDLO) for all posting localities in Victoria.

It is recognised that a guide such as this cannot answer every question you may have about education, and that there are many more questions and nuances about moving with children. For this reason I am also available to assist with further information or to link you into additional support. Therefore, please do not hesitate to contact me

Defence Community Organisation Services

The Defence Community Organisation (DCO) provides confidential services to the Australian Defence Force (ADF), its members and their families through a broad range of specialised services.

DCO supports Commanders, members and their families by providing assistance in case of accident, illness, hospitalisation, financial difficulty, managing casualties and estates, and at times of bereavement.

Your local DCO team employs the following staff:

Defence Social Workers are qualified professionals trained to assist members and their families to address a wide range of personal, family and work-related issues in a confidential setting.

Military Support Officers (MSOs) are uniformed personnel from the three Services who offer support and assistance to members and their families, and undertake a liaison function with units and Command.

Family Liaison Officers (FLOs) assist members and families to settle into new communities, and are a source of information about local and Australian Defence Force resources and support activities.

Regional Education Liaison Officers (REDLOs) are qualified, experienced teachers who assist Defence families with matters related to education. They provide information, advice, referrals and specialised assistance to Service members and their families, the ADF and education systems on education matters. REDLOs provide advice on the impact of posting mobility on education. They can assist with the transition between the various state and territory primary, secondary and tertiary education systems.

Education Assistance Scheme (EAS)

Defence recognises that the mobile lifestyle can create particular challenges for school-aged children. One purpose of the EAS is to assist with the cost of additional educational services such as tuition support for children. The aim of this assistance is to overcome any immediate difficulties and disruption that have impacted on the child's learning due to a member's posting.

In this tuition situation, the basic elements of the EAS are as follows:

- Tuition must be provided by a qualified person or an accredited organisation.
- Tuition must be provided within 18 months of the child enrolling at the new school.
- The principal or class teacher certifies that the tuition is required.
- Tuition can be provided for one hour per week, per subject.
- For previously studied compulsory subjects, this tuition can last for 14 weeks.
- For compulsory subjects not previously studied, this tuition can be for up to six months.
- In Years 10, 11 or 12 some tuition can last for the school year.
- Tuition may be undertaken during or outside school hours.
- Tuition may take the form of web-based support.
- The CO/OC of the member's unit or REDLO gives approval for the 14 weeks of tuition.
- There is provision for an extension of EAS if the disruption was not reduced to a reasonable degree by the initial tuition.

Other aspects covered by the EAS include:

- boarding assistance for students in Years 9, 10, 11 or 12 who do not relocate on posting with their family
- accommodation costs, in certain circumstances, for tertiary students
- student reunion travel for students who board or are at a tertiary institution

- assistance for assessment, therapy and additional support for special needs students who were receiving this support in their previous posting and who are unable to access such services in the government system in the new state/territory – provided they have been recognised by Defence under the Dependants with Special Needs (DWSN) policy
- compensation to a member whose child forfeits a scholarship or bursary because of the member posting to another locality.

The Education Assistance Scheme also contains a variety of discretionary clauses relating to the above provisions.

Under some elements of the scheme, there remains a parental contribution component.

Full details of the Education Assistance Scheme are available at Pay and Condition Manual (PACMAN), Vol. 2 Ch 8 Part 4. A copy is available online at Internet: www.defence.gov.au/dpe/pac

Note: Child tuition assistance under the Education Assistance Scheme is not Fringe Benefits Tax reportable.

For further assistance or advice, please contact your local REDLO.

Dependants with Special Needs (DWSN)

ADF members who have dependants with special needs (DWSN) attending a registered primary or secondary school full-time may be eligible for education-related assistance. This is detailed in the Pay and Conditions Manual (PACMAN), Vol. 2, Ch 8, parts 4 and 6, and has been mentioned previously in this booklet. However, Defence recognises that families who have a dependant with a recognised special need can face additional problems when it comes time to relocate. For this reason there is a policy that may assist families at this time.

PACMAN Vol. 2 Ch 8 Part 6 details this policy, explaining who is eligible, the recognition process, the special needs assistance, and other general conditions and provisions. Families who wish to be recognised or who wish to find out what is available under this instruction should read the instruction and contact their local DCO office. A CD ROM explaining the process is available from the local Office to assist members in completing an application.

Educational Aspects of PACMAN Vol. 2 Ch 8 Part 6

Aspects of the DWSN policy relate directly to educational issues and these are highlighted below:

- Families with school-aged children who have been recognised by Defence under the DWSN policy may be eligible for a special needs pre-posting visit. This visit, at Commonwealth expense, is to enable the family to plan adequately and organise educational arrangements for the child with special needs at the gaining locality where this cannot be done from the old locality and when it is necessary for the child with special needs to have direct contact with relevant education authorities/institutions. It should be pointed out that, in most instances, such pre-posting visits are not necessary, as appropriate placement of a special needs child can be achieved by the provision of all appropriate documentation well in advance to the relevant education authorities in the new locality. The services and advice of the REDLO can be accessed in order to achieve this placement.
- Financial assistance may be available to families with children requiring occupational therapy or speech therapy in the new locality where the state/territory enforces a waiting period. This assistance is a stop-gap provided until the state/territory system can assume responsibility. The eligibility for, and type of, support are aligned with the benchmark standard in the new state or territory.
- A member who has an academically gifted and talented child may apply to be recognised as DWSN under PACMAN Vol. 2 Ch 8 Part 6. The child must be assessed as academically gifted and talented by a psychologist with relevant qualifications and experience in the assessment of children, in that the child achieves a score at or above the 95th percentile on any of the following:
  - a) any individual or group IQ test
  - b) a subscale (e.g. verbal or performance) of an individual IQ test
  - c) any standardised test of achievement.
- Other than a special needs pre-posting visit (SNPPV), the only assistance available under PACMAN is assistance with the provision of housing in the locality of the child's education institution. The member is not eligible for either the payment or reimbursement by Defence of any fees associated with the education of the child.

Please read PACMAN Vol. 2 Ch 8 Part 6, and contact your local DCO office for further information about all aspects of this policy.

Age of Entry for Schooling

The age of entry to formal schooling varies from state to state/territory and each sets its own guidelines. As you can see from the table below, a child may be eligible to commence schooling in one state but not eligible to do so in another. For further information or to discuss any concerns about age of entry, contact the REDLO.

State/territory	Name of first year	Eligibility	Date of commencement
Australian Capital Territory (ACT)	Kindergarten	Five years of age on or before 30 April	January of that year
New South Wales (NSW)	Kindergarten	Five years of age on or before 31 July	January of that year
Northern Territory (NT)	Transition	Five years of age on or before 30 June	January of that year
Queensland (QLD)	Preparatory	Five years of age on or before 30 June	January of that year
South Australia (SA)	Reception	Five years of age	The beginning of the term after the child turns five years of age
Tasmania (TAS)	Preparatory	Five years of age on or by 1 January in any year	Must start school in that year
Victoria (VIC)	Preparatory	Five years of age on or before 30 April	January of that year
Western Australia (WA)	Pre-primary	Five years of age on or before 30 June	January of that year

On the Move Again

Moving is a major life change. It is an event filled with a variety of emotions, such as excitement, anticipation, fear, sadness, anxiety, confusion and optimism. Recognise that your children may particularly experience a sense of loss as a result of a move. It takes time to work through this loss. Encourage children to express their emotions. Accept their feelings and respond with understanding. By expressing your own feelings in healthy ways, children will recognise that they are not alone in their feelings.

Encourage children to keep a scrapbook or photo album of their former community, school, home and friends. Allow children to maintain contact with former friends for as long as necessary (telephone, email, letters, photographs etc.).

Be prepared for signs of stress from children of any age. Preschoolers may regress to thumb-sucking, baby talk or other behaviour they had left behind. School-aged children may intensify natural habits; e.g. a shy child may become more shy, an aggressive child more aggressive.

Talk to them about the posting – early and often. Give your child as much information as possible before the move; more lead time means more time for the child to get used to the idea. Having information or knowledge about the new location can also increase the likelihood of making a smooth and positive transition.

The most important aspect of settling children into any environment, whether it is school or not, is to make them feel secure. This security may just be a feeling that the family is together, or that someone will be there when they need to talk. Younger children may feel more secure if they have a treasured possession with them.

After the move, resume normal family routines as soon as possible (bedtime, chores, discipline, story time, traditions). Consider allocating special time to just sit down with your child to discuss his/her day, as well as sharing items about your day. These few minutes spent with your child will probably confirm in your child's mind your interest in all that he/she is doing. Congratulate your child on managing the challenging experience of moving.

Children need time to adjust. In general it takes children six months to adjust to a move. If you have concerns about your child's adjustment, contact a GP, the school counsellor or other health professional.

Changing Schools

So, your family has another posting?

Among other challenges and opportunities that this event entails, there is that unenviable task of preparing your child for a change in schools. Here are some hints that may help your child during this transition.

Before you leave:

- Notify the present school of the move
- Ask the school for reports, samples of work and other relevant information for collection prior to departure
- Prepare a student information portfolio for each child (see page 9)
- Return all library items, texts, equipment etc. that belong to the school
- Ensure all outstanding fees are paid
- Encourage your child to collect mementos, gather contact details and email addresses of friends
- Contact the REDLO for information on education in the new location
- Contact the new school for enrolment forms, school prospectus, curriculum details, web address and other details required
- Explore the new school via the internet if possible
- Ensure that all information needed to enrol at the new school is carried with you.

On arrival:

- Make an appointment with the principal or relevant enrolment officer
- Discuss your child's strengths and weaknesses, special needs (if applicable), appropriate year level placement, student information portfolio, subject choices etc.
- Accompany your child on a tour of the school
- Familiarise yourself with the established forms of communication between the school and the home
- Allow approximately four weeks for your child to settle in and for teachers to get to know them, then ring the school to discuss progress
- Access the Education Assistance Scheme if appropriate
- Contact the REDLO for further assistance or advice if required. Issues may include: handwriting styles, behaviour management, communication with the school, school behaviour management, exclusion and expulsion etc.

As a parent, it may be worth noting that, in April 1989, the members of the Australian Education Council accepted the recommendation that 'systems accept differences in handwriting styles and that this information be distributed to teachers showing the accepted styles', and that 'all Australian government school systems will now accept that a child taught a handwriting style in one state will not have to change it on transfer to another state which teaches a different style'.

Student Information Portfolio

A student information portfolio is a collection of materials designed to show your child's schooling experience and achievements. Constructing the portfolio can be a cooperative project with your child and can help generate confidence and enthusiasm for a move.

A digital student information portfolio has been developed by DCO. It is an interactive multimedia program that captures the academic, sporting, cultural and social history of a child over each year of their schooling. A copy of this digital version can be obtained from your local REDLO or DCO office.

A well-constructed portfolio can provide a documented history of the student's progress. It can also provide details about the student to assist the new school in placing the student in an appropriate year level. Developing this portfolio can encourage your child to feel he/she is making a contribution to his/her schooling and help you to relate more confidently to the new school.

If you are unable to access the digital program then a sturdy two-ring binder and a number of clear plastic inserts or a display book is suitable for the portfolio.

Suggested items for inclusion are:

- Introductory section
  - Personal details
  - A recent photograph
  - Details of siblings at the same school
  - Copy of birth certificate
  - Immunisation record
  - Baptismal certificate (if applicable).
- School information
  - Schooling history sheet
  - Current subjects and levels
  - Reports
  - Dated samples of student's work
  - Awards and certificates.

- Special information
  - Guidance assessment reports, medical reports, school recommendations
  - Involvement with school-based activities e.g. canteen duty, coaching or umpiring a sporting team, etc.
- Co-curricular activities
  - Sports, hobbies, club membership
  - Art, music, drama.

Resources

The Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations (DEEWR) has developed two resources to assist schools and parents when students change schools.

- Changing Schools is a kit for parents, containing an information booklet and a checklist brochure
- Interstate Student Data Transfer Note – with parental approval, this system allows student information to be transferred from the old school in one state or territory to the new school in another.

Resources

Publications Available From Your Local DCO Office

Home is where the family is – a book to help parents assist their children to cope with important changes in their life, changing homes and changing schools. A very helpful book when Defence families are posted with young children.

Parenting at home and away – discusses how parents can learn to cope with being away from their children and how they can feel comfortable integrating back into family life. Particularly written for deployed Defence personnel who are parents.

Travelling teens: A parents' guide to family relocation – covers the issues that teenagers are likely to be grappling with at this stage of their life. This book provides expert advice on how to support teenagers during the process of moving, to make what is often a difficult situation into a positive experience.

Travelling teens Z-card – a great resource for teenagers with lots of tips to help make moving easier.

Defence Community Organisation brochures:

The Regional Education Liaison Officer – describes the services offered by the REDLO.

Supporting the Defence Community – outlines the services, information and programs available through DCO.

Changing Schools Checklist – contains hints to help your child change schools.

Education Assistance – outlines the different types of support and financial assistance available under the Education Assistance Scheme.

Education Assistance – Overview of the Application Process – contains a step-by-step guide on how to apply for support.

Defence School Transition Aide – describes the role of the Defence School Transition Aide (DSTA) in primary schools.

Defence Transition Mentor – describes the role of the Defence Transition Mentor (DTM) in secondary schools.

Parental Involvement in School Community – How you can help

All parents are encouraged to play an active part in their local school community. Depending on your skills, experience and personal interests, there are many different ways in which you can be involved in your child's education.

Classroom help is always welcomed and may include listening to children read, involvement with learning assistance programs, setting up activities or helping with electives. You may be surprised at the skills or activities you will be able to offer or assist with.

Excursions take children to interesting and informative places. Volunteers can enjoy these outings too, while assisting the teachers with the organisation and supervision of the children.

School camps are a common activity for many schools, and a good way to enjoy the less formal context of out-of-school learning.

Tuckshop/canteen activities are part of the normal day-to-day life in most schools, and a great way to involve parents with preparation and serving of food, usually during school hours.

Fundraising at some time is a part of most school activities. This may include participating in auctions, barbeques, book fairs, t-shirt printing or lolly drives. Parents have the opportunity to contribute to this activity with new and exciting ideas.

Library assistance is usually welcomed by all resource centre staff. Covering, repairing, sorting and shelving books are ongoing tasks that are essential to ensure that children gain maximum access to borrowing resources.

Working bees are a great way to help beautify the surroundings of your school, and can involve the whole family in planting bulbs, paving, weeding or small maintenance jobs around that favourite playground.

Parents Associations – most schools have associations which provide a forum for parents to have an input into the administration of the school. Parents and Citizens (P&C) or Parents and Friends (P&F) Associations are also a great way for Defence families to meet other families and become part of the local community. Contact your schools for meeting dates and times.

Contact your school to be involved. You will benefit from being an active participant, as will your child and the school community. Never underestimate your own contribution, because you have skills and attributes no one else does. You also have a vested interest in your own family and their future.

Participate, and enjoy the benefits.

Early Childhood Education

Each child is a unique individual with specific needs, abilities and potential, and early childhood education should be geared to optimise that potential. To do this, it should encourage exploration and creativity, offer opportunities for social, emotional, physical and intellectual growth in a safe and caring environment, and progress in accordance to the child's development.

Parents are the most important educators of their children, and some parents provide all of the above themselves in the years prior to their child starting formal schooling. Many, though, choose to employ the services of early childhood educators by taking their children to playgroups and preschool. These educators should always work together with parents to encourage small children to develop self-confidence and become independent.

If possible, before enrolling your child in an early childhood program, read all the information supplied and make an appointment to watch a session in progress, to make sure it will suit you and your child's needs. Continue to maintain an interest in your child's progress, and enjoy their development.

Playgroups/Activity Groups

Playgroups provide opportunities for parents and very young children to meet regularly with other families. They are run by parents and provide play activities for the children. All playgroups are different, but the emphasis is on fun and friendship. The parent and child attend the playgroup session together.

Activity groups are for three- to four-year-old children, and are usually supervised by a trained staff member. They give older children the chance to play together without younger children. Activities are structured, but the emphasis is still on learning through play.

For a complete list of playgroups in your area contact your Family Liaison Officer, or Playgroup Victoria.

Tel: (03) 9388 1599

Kindergarten/ Preschool

Kindergarten is an often-used word that can mean many things. In some states or territories the term refers to the first year of formal schooling. In other areas, it is used to describe playgroups or play schools.

In Victoria, kindergarten or kinder is an endearing term for the preschool year. Often the word kinder may be used to differentiate between the preschool program for three-year-olds and four-year-olds.

To be eligible to attend a funded kindergarten/ preschool program in the year before formal school, children must be four years old by 30 April in their kindergarten year. Each child develops at their own rate and, although your child's age may make them eligible to start kindergarten, other factors may impact on their readiness for such an experience.

At kindergarten, your child will grow socially and emotionally. Their ability to think, use and recognise language and to use their fine motor skills will be developed through play, art, dance, music, movement and interaction with others, fine motor skills include the ability to handle and pick up small objects, transfer objects from hand to hand, and various hand-eye coordination tasks, such as cutting, drawing, writing or threading beads. Your child will also learn to be an engaged learner as they develop and extend their communication skills, learn to be creative, and develop skills to assist with reading, writing and mathematics.

Whilst the Victorian Government provides funding to kindergartens to assist with running programs, additional fees are payable by parents. A fee subsidy may be available for eligible concession card holders. Four year old kinder programs usually operate 10-12 hours per week.

To enrol your child in a kindergarten program you will need to provide the following information:

- Your child's name, address and details of any special needs.
- Information about parents, carers and guardians
- Details of people who can collect your child
- Information about your child's medical, health and immunisation status.

Early Childhood Centres

Some private schools have early learning centres, which provide a combination of care and a structured program for children prior to entering formal schooling. Many centres run a structured program for children aged three to six years. Private school fees are charged for this program.

Catholic Education

Some Catholic primary schools also operate a preschool or kindergarten. Contact your REDLO or Catholic Education Office for details.

Early Childhood Intervention Services

If you have a child with a disability or developmental delay whose needs cannot be fully met by mainstream services, the Early Childhood Intervention Service is available to support your child from birth to the start of school. The services can cover special education, therapy, counselling and support in childcare and kindergarten programs. A kindergarten Inclusion program supports children with high level needs and disabilities to take part in mainstream kindergarten.

Primary and Secondary Schooling

School in Victoria is compulsory for a children aged between 6 and 17 years old. The school year runs from late January/early February to December. Primary school is from Preparatory (Prep) to Year 6, with children who turn 5 by 30 April of that year being able to commence the Prep year. Students then progress through years 1 to Year 6. Secondary schools commence tuition at Year 7, and from there students progress through to Year 12. Some schools are structured as multi campus schools offering instruction across Prep – Yr 12, or similar groupings.

In primary school, including the Prep year, the main emphasis is placed on improving the learning of each student in the areas of literacy and numeracy. Teaching across the breadth of the Learning Areas develops physical, creative and information and communication technology skills. Teachers will employ a range of teaching strategies, with children sometimes working with the whole class and at other times being engaged in small group or individual work.

The Victorian Essential Learning Standards (VELS) outline what is essential for all Victorian students to learn during their time at school from Prep to Year 10. They provide a set of common state-wide standards that schools use to plan student learning programs, assess student progress and report to parents.

The Standards cover the discipline-based domains of English, Mathematics, Science, Humanities, Languages other than English (LOTE), and the Arts. They outline essential knowledge; skills and behaviours students are expected to demonstrate within each domain at each of the six levels within the outlines. Level 1 for example equates to the Prep year, with students at levels 1 and 2 developing foundation knowledge and skills in English, Maths, the arts, interpersonal development and health and physical education.

The curriculum framework is not prescriptive, in that it does not tell every classroom teacher exactly what activity they should be teaching. Rather, it provides a framework for the teacher and school to work within.

Primary schools in Victoria may be structured around straight year levels, composite or multi-age classes, depending on the policy of the school and student numbers.

In multi-age classrooms, children of mixed ages and abilities are intentionally grouped together for learning. Programs are planned and organised to take into account children's different stages of learning and development. Within this structure all children have opportunities to develop academic and social skills suited to their learning needs.

Sometimes placement difficulties caused by interstate schooling differences may be resolved through placement in composite or multi-age classes. Class structure is determined by individual schools.

To enrol a child in primary school, it is necessary to provide the child's immunisation record, or a statement outlining details of immunisation. This is available through your local council.

Within the state sector, children are usually enrolled in the local school, but parents are able to choose any school for enrolment as long as vacancies exist. Within the private sector, enrolment is by application to the school. Many private schools do have waiting lists, and there is no formal requirement to hold positions for Defence families.

Each school council also develops its own student code of conduct, which states policy on the management of student behaviour, and aims to foster a safe and positive social structure for students. The code is developed by school council members with input from teachers, students and parents.

Within the secondary sector, most schools will operate from Year 7–12, but some schools may structure year levels into a junior, middle and senior school, on a single campus or multiple campuses.

Some schools, in both the state and private sector, operate a Prep to Year 12 (P–12) program, and a small number of state schools have been nominated as selective or specialist schools across a variety of subject areas.

Select Entry Accelerated learning program

Some secondary schools offer a Select Entry Accelerated Learning (SEAL) program to high-performing students. Work in core subjects is accelerated for SEAL students, allowing them to complete Years 7–10 in three years and to do more Victorian Certificate of Education (VCE) subjects in Years 11 and 12, or even a university subject.

www.education.vic.gov.au/studentlearning/programs/gifted/seal

Selective entry government secondary schools

Selective entry secondary schools provide an enriched environment for high-achieving, academically advanced students in Years 9–12. Entry is by one competitive exam covering all selective entry schools, held in June of the previous year. There are four selective entry high schools in Victoria: The Mac.Robertsons Girls' High (girls only) in Albert Park, Melbourne High School (boys only) in South Yarra, Nossal High School in Berwick and Suzanne Cory High School in Werribee.

Victorian College of the Arts Secondary School: specialist education in the performing arts, dance and music. Entry is by audition.

Internet: www.vcass.vic.edu.au

Victorian School of Languages: provides classes across a wide range of languages for primary and secondary students. Classes are held outside of school hours, with centres across metropolitan Melbourne and regional Victoria.

Internet: www.vsl.vic.edu.au

Distance Education Centre Victoria: provides comprehensive curriculum from Prep–12 for students unable to attend school for reasons of illness, interstate or overseas travel over an extended period, or inability to access subjects in remote areas.

Internet: www.distance.vic.edu.au

Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities can access inclusive programs of support within mainstream education. In government schools the Program for Students with Disabilities is an additional program for a defined student population with moderate to severe disabilities. This program supports students with disabilities by providing schools with additional resources.

It is advisable to make contact with the REDLO in your gaining locality as early as possible should you wish to access support through these services or require information regarding the independent sector.

Parent Payments

Victorian government schools provide free instruction in the standard curriculum program. Schools may, however charge for the materials and services used by students. School Councils are responsible for developing and approving a policy about parent payments at their school, which must comply with Department of Education and Early Childhood Development's policy and be distributed to parents.

School councils can ask for payment for:

- Essential items that parents are required to provide or pay the school to provide such as stationery, textbooks, school uniforms.
- Optional extras for example, school magazines, or extra curricular programs or activities.
- Voluntary financial contributions, for example, building and library funds.

In the secondary sector, additional fees are usually levied depending on subject choices and specialist materials required. Parents with concerns about fees or levies should discuss these with the principal.

www.education.vic.gov.au/parentpayments

A state based school start bonus is available for children starting Prep or Year 7.

An Education Maintenance Allowance (EMA) is provided for low income families to help with education costs.

Check with your school in relation to these programs,

In the non-government sector, fees are payable per child or family, and often include a compulsory building levy or application fee. Application fees are generally non-refundable and there is no guarantee of student places being made available. Scholarships may be offered by some schools.

School Uniform

Each school council is able to decide on issues of school uniform. Individual schools will therefore have different policies on whether the uniform is compulsory or not. Most schools operate their own uniform shop and may also sell second-hand uniforms. Some of the larger department stores carry generic uniform items.

For non-government schools, uniforms are generally compulsory, although some secondary schools may have a mandated dress code instead. It is also usually required in private schools that students purchase the full uniform regardless of length of stay at that school.

Out of School Hours Care and Vacation Care Programs

Many primary schools offer programs for school children outside school hours. These can include before-school, after-school care and vacation care. These programs usually are able to cater for pupil-free days as well. For more information contact your school directly, or the local council office.

Senior Secondary Education (VCE, VET, VCAL)

Victorian secondary schools offer a variety of curriculum options for Years 11 and 12 students to pursue interests and qualifications for their future beyond school. Students can choose to follow two different pathways – Victorian Certificate of Applied Learning (VCAL) or Victorian Certificate of Education (VCE).

Victorian Certificate of Education (VCE)

The VCE is a two year course of study usually undertaken over Years 11 and 12. It prepares students for university or TAFE institutes and employment. There are 90 subjects or studies in the VCE. A study or subject is broken into four units over the two years. Each unit is half a year in length and units are numbered 1 to 4. Students can start their VCE in Year 10, and can undertake a school-based apprenticeship or traineeship within the VCE. Units 1 and 2 are usually taken at Year 11, with 3 and 4 being studied at Year 12. Students must satisfactorily complete a minimum of 16 units with at least 3 being from the English group.

The Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) is a overall measure of how well a student has performed in the VCE, and is calculated by the Victorian Tertiary Admissions Centre. The ATAR is used in the selection process for entry to TAFE or University.

Victorian Certificate of Applied Learning (VCAL)

The VCAL is a hands-on option for Year 11 and 12 students who wish to undertake a practical work related course. Students undertaking VCAL are more likely to pursue training in vocational education and training, undertake an apprenticeship or traineeship, or proceed directly to work following school. VCAL is offered at Foundation, Intermediate or Senior level, depending on student ability or learning goals. VCAL curriculum areas cover strands of literacy and numeracy skills, industry specific skills, work related skills and personal development skills.

Vocational Education and Training (VET)

Students who are interested in undertaking a vocationally oriented study program in a specific industry have the option of choosing to complete VET studies as part of their VCE or VCAL. VET programs are usually delivered through partnerships between schools, industry and training providers. They enable students to take part in structured workplace learning and gain practical skills in the industry in which they are interested. VET programs include school – based apprenticeships and traineeships.

A small number of schools, generally in the private school sector, conduct studies in the International Baccalaureate (IB). Contact your REDLO for details.

Tertiary Study

Tertiary study is available at a number of TAFE institutes and universities across the Melbourne metropolitan area and country Victoria. There is also a network of community education and skills based providers who deliver shorter or vocational courses.

Admission

Details of TAFE and university courses are listed in the Victorian Tertiary Admission Centre (VTAC) guide. Contact should be made with the institution and full details of courses obtained. Enrolment requirements will vary depending on the course and the provider. Applications through VTAC are normally lodged by late September. Late applications may be accepted, but additional fees are payable.

Many courses are offered for mid-year entry, so check with your local TAFE or university.
