Attention Commander Radburn

Reference My submission to the Senate Enquiry
No 65

Sir,

May I tentatively draw attention to the points raised on page 951 (4) and <sup>(a)</sup> pages and (b) on pages 951/952 which remain relevant.

In relation to the deep sea camera's revelations and the subsequent interpretation of the course of the action.

(c) (a) The state of BTurret—a neat 1500mm hole drilled in face of its 1" armour plate (by presumable) an armour piercing shell—lies in the face of the previously researched conclusions only

If one piece of a jig saw does not fit what happens to the rest of the configuration?

To my knowledge, the Australian Govt has yet to acknowledge that Kapitän Zerstörer Detmers and his crew achieved a feat of arms unique in modern naval history

It will be curious if the present Enquiry does not now do so in its summation

Yours faithfully
Irene Bell
