MR P. DAVISON

21.6.08

Dear Sir

After five years of research into the loss of H.M.A.S SYDNEY II, and the last three giving my findings to Sea Power Naval History Branch, Historian John Terrefman and having my theories confirmed as plausible, including photographs sent from the Germany and the U.K. to add to these theories, including letters from various Ministers of Government confirming that my work was in the hands of Naval History through my MEMBER of Parliament, copies of my work were sent to the Commission of Enquiry Refining to shed more light on SYDNEY II loss

I should now like to "Abandon Ship" and have my theories withdrawn from the Commission, as MR Perryman in a phone conversation now wants me to distance my work from Naval History as he thinks it may involve him in some form of Naval Coverup and reflect on him. I hope this is a personal view and not the NAVY'S

At seventy three years of age I refuse to lie for anyone

Yours faithfully

Peter Dawson
