Dear Sir

Sorry about sending separate letters with theories and ideas to the Commission but we've just arrived back from up North, and your letter about this was exciting. I hope and will try to make this story my part to the inquiry.

My idea of this submission is trying to show that the Germans didn't change their construction methods for over one hundred years in the building of ships.

It's one of the worst photographs of a ship I've ever seen, it's really terrible. But even so, she's not "KORMORAN", she may never ever have been a raider! But she is clearly "GERMAN BUILT" with many of "KORMORAN'S" features. The Germans were clever, but as with us all sometimes ~~too~~ clever, even the U. Boat captains couldn't keep their mouths shut when they sunk a ship and reported to Base, thus giving their position away to the destroyers and aircraft waiting for D.F. them.

I thank the Commission for giving me the chance to air my views and theories.

I believe "BOORARA" carried the men and horses of Light Horse to the Middle East, History turns up in many ways.

Yours faithfully
Peter Dawson
