Subject: WWW Submission: 2. Navy/Sea Power [SEC=UNCLASSIFIED]

Name: Peter Ferguson

Submission: There is a great need for the construction of an additional air warfare destroyer to bolster naval credibility in defence and offence operations and provide a credible surface combatant naval force. Further to give us the much needed edge serious thought should be given to the re-introduction of a credible offensive air arm in the form of a medium sized air craft carrier with a full squadron of embarked long range offensive strike aircraft complemented by a wing of long range anti submarine and early warning aircraft. Such carrier to always operate under escort of the additional air warfare destroyer. The carrier to be equipped with the latest offensive and defensive missile capabilities. This would provide the navy with a floating battle group.
